A Few Helpful Hints about Delinquent-Tax Properties held by Anderson County Government:

- The County Mayor's Office is the custodian of delinquent-tax properties held by Anderson County Government.
- It is the responsibility of any interested bidder to conduct all document searches related to delinquent-tax property. (For example: liens, deed research associated with the property).
- It is the responsibility of any interested bidder to ensure he/she is able to obtain financing for any property of interest before placing a bid on property.
- If you are the initial bidder on delinquent-tax property, by State Law, your bid will be advertised in a newspaper of general circulation in Anderson County; up to 10 days after publication of your bid, any other interested bidder may submit a bid 10-percent higher than your initial bid. If multiple bids are received, all individuals who have submitted bids on the property will be contacted and a date and time set for all individuals to appear before the County Mayor to bid on the property in an "auction-type" scenario until the winning bidder is determined.
- All delinquent-tax property held by Anderson County will be sold "AS IS," with no guarantees. Only a Quitclaim Deed will be provided. Anderson County is unable to issue Warranty Deeds under State Law that governs conveyance of delinquent tax properties.
- Once payment is received in full on property, it is the responsibility of the winning bidder to immediately file the Quitclaim Deed with the Anderson County Register of Deeds office.
- The County Mayor's office is committed to working with you to accomplish your goals. We will help you if we can, but we cannot give legal advice. We are happy to connect you with other offices that may be of assistance.
